SKI SAFETY: (In collaboration with Norske Alpinanlegg og Fjelldestinasjoner)

It is important to wear a helmet, be considerate of other skiers and snowboarders, and follow skiing safety rules.

Skiing should be safe for everyone, and we all share the responsibility for skiing safely.

Follow these skiing safety guidelines to ensure a safer alpine experience for yourself and others:

1. Responsibility to avoid injury

You must conduct yourself in a way that does not pose a danger to yourself or others. Always maintain control of your ski and snowboard equipment. You are responsible for preventing your equipment from causing harm to people or property.

2. Adjust your speed to conditions

Ski in a controlled manner and adjust your speed and technique according to your skill level, terrain, weather, snow conditions, and traffic on the slopes.

3. Yielding right-of-way

If you approach from behind, you must choose a path that does not put others at risk of collision.

4. Overtaking and downhill skiing

You may pass another skier or snowboarder, provided there is enough space for them to move freely. Straight downhill skiing is prohibited except during organized training.

5. Entering, merging, or turning uphill on a slope

If you enter, merge, or turn uphill on a slope, ensure that this is done without posing a risk to yourself or others. The same applies when resuming skiing after stopping.

6. Stopping on the slopes

Avoid stopping on narrow sections or areas with limited visibility unless absolutely necessary. If you fall in such a place, move away as quickly as possible.

7. Walking on the slopes

If on foot, always use the edges of the slope.

8. Respect signs and markings

Follow all signage, markings, and instructions.

9. Helping in case of accidents

All skiers and snowboarders are required to assist in the event of an accident.

10. Identification

Witnesses and individuals involved in accidents must provide their personal details.
